

Urs Birchler

Urs Birchler is Professor of Banking at University of Zurich and President of The European Economic Money and Finance Forum SUERF. He spent most of his career at Swiss National Bank (financial stability). For several years he represented SNB at the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision; he was the first chairman of the Committee's research task force. He is co-author of Information Economics (2007) (with Monika Bütler). His research interests cover banking, bank regulation, and information economics. His policy focus is bank resolution, bail-in, and the TBTF problem. He is married and has three children.